

Cloud-Computing

Why do we need cloud computing?

Now let's consider a scenario that I'm running a small business and currently I'm limited within a city in a building I'm doing all my operations from here now with a lot of hard work and dedication my team has grown and I'm planning to expand my business to four different cities. Now in this scenario, the major roadblocks I'm going to face are that I need a large team to handle the business; next, there is a lot of unpredictability in the business and limited resources. If we need to solve this purpose, cloud computing provided us with a great facility to overcome these challenges.
